

PreBeam® - Wood

PreBeam® has proved its potential within a great number of businesses already. However, input from especially the carpenting industry has pushed the development of a new type.

We expect a lot from the new version with birch ply-wood as the plate material. The benefits are obvious:

- easy surface to attach to with standard PVA-glue and paint
- material suitable for fixing of screws
- flexibility and final stiffness of the profile is maintained
- organic look
- cutting, drilling and clamping is done without special tools
- light-weight

As always, the profiles are available in 2,95 m lengths. Further technical information can be found in separate datasheet.
